Social Committee Loses On Ray Anthony Booking

Social committee took a loss of $330.49 on the recent Ray Anthony dance, according to Audrey Olson, Billings, ASMSU social chairman. Ticket sales grossed $1,797.15 but expenses came to $2,127.64.

The loss will not affect student funds, she said, because the lacking money came out of the buffer fund of $456.87 that was made on the Louis Armstrong dance last year. The buffer fund was set up for just this purpose of taking care of outside dance bands, she said.

Considering the short time the committee was given to line up the dance and the night of the week it was held, Miss Olson said the dance was reasonably successful.

She suggested that a definite plan be set up to handle future big band engagements. This plan should allow for all work to be assigned so that there is someone definitely responsible for each job, such as radio publicity, newspaper publicity, ticket sales, etc.

Big name band engagements in the last two years have proved successful, Miss Olson said. Social committee is making plans to engage a band next quarter.

100 Student Blood Donors Still Needed

About 100 students are needed to fill the quota set by the Red Cross for blood donations, according to Harvey Schlieman, chairman of the campus blood drive. He said those who are planning to donate should register between 1 and 4 p.m. today.

Several living groups on the campus have not yet filled their quota and should do so today, Schlieman said. Men between 18 and 21 must have written permission before they can register.

The bloodmobile unit will be here Wednesday. Schlieman reminded students that no fatty foods are to be eaten for four hours before the blood is given. After the donation is made, persons will rest and will then be sent to the canteen to eat.

Faculty members also are included in this drive for donors. They must also make an appointment.

News in a Nutshell

The Communists in Korea say they have agreed to permit adjustments in the final Korean cease-fire line to make it "correspond to the actual changes" in the battle line.

Reports from the Korean front say the enemy is going over to mechanized warfare by boosting planes, tanks, and guns.

In Paris, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky has rejected the Big Three proposal for controlled disarmament. He demanded before the United Nations assembly that there be an immediate cease-fire in Korea.

Central Board Delays Vote On Campus Chest Scheme

Central board heard more pros and cons for campus chest late Wednesday but wound up by delaying the final decision till Monday.

Action was delayed because information from the National Student association on the success of campus chest at other schools had not arrived. Also, Mrs. Gladys Lawther, regional secretary of the World Student Service fund from Portland, is expected Monday.

Reynolds Speaks for CB

Bill Reynolds, ASMSU president, said in summation, "In view of the new arguments against the chest and of our deliberation on them, Central board is beginning to oppose the campus chest. If the students were to realize the arguments as we who have discussed them do, we are sure they would agree with our stand."

Briefly, arguments for the chest are:

1. Students would not be swamped with charity drives.
2. One drive would prevent duplication of time and energy spent by students for handling several drives.

Arguments against are:

1. A single drive would probably not bring in as much money as all the drives collectively.
2. Campus chest eliminates choice of worthwhile drives by the student and stops welfare group competition.
3. Chest drive would require a larger donation at a single time.
4. Red Cross and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis have national regulations that will not permit them to join federated drives so they would not come on campus.

Freshman Amendment

In other business, the board added an amendment to the voting regulation which will allow freshmen to vote for general ASMSU officers only after they have been organized fall quarter.

An informal vote of approval was given by the board for LeRoy Hinze, drama director, to submit an application to a theatrical firm in Boston for consideration in a give-away of several thousand dollars worth of props and costumes. The company is disbanding and is planning on donating their equipment to some worthy school.

If the MSU drama group gets the nod, the cost of shipping would be around $500.

Financial matters included the approval of a $100 loan to Mortar board, the contracting for half a buffalo, costing $87.50, for Aber day, and acknowledging a $10 loss on a Dad's day luncheon given last week end.

Store Okays Coverage

Student-owned stores face a problem of keeping their stockholders informed and yet, at the same time, practice shrewd business principles. The two do not always come hand in hand.

So it is with our local student store. The students, who are stockholders, by virtue of their enrollment at the University, can reasonably request that information such as profits and plans be presented to them through the student paper.

On the other hand, the store has felt that to widely publicize such information places the store at a disadvantage in competition with downtown establishments. It is difficult to practice good policies of management when your records are laid open to your competitors.

Also, there is, quite frankly, the double danger of rupturing relationships between the University and the downtown merchants. It is essential that those relationships be amiable because of the help given the University and many student organizations by the merchants.

To wave a page of several hundred thousand dollars worth of gross sales before the merchants with one hand while asking for Sentinel or Mountaineer advertising with the other is hardly the best policy for good relations.

There has also been the consideration that although distrust and dissatisfaction would be built up by keeping the store's financial activities in the dark as far as the average student is concerned, this would be better than arousing the animosity of the Missoula merchants.

But at a regular meeting this week, Store board took steps to partially bring store activities into public light and keep students informed of all actions of the board.

The board decided to allow, even to invite, a Kaimin reporter to all Store board meetings to report any and all information that the reporter deems newsworthy.

This step should help considerably in removing the ugly attitude that many students have carried against the store. These feelings have been built up largely because of not having access to the store's activities.

Store board members will be more cognizant of their responsibilities if their absence from the board is given public notice. Attendance at board meetings in past years has been shameful and as several permanent faculty board members said, often it has been difficult to obtain even a quorum at the meetings. Attendance so far this year has been commendable with only one student absence being recorded this fall.

The Kaimin is pleased to see the board take this action.—D.W.

Letters to Editor...

TWO CRANKS BLAST EDITOR IN HOPES OF CIGARETTES

Dear Editor:

Why a Kaimin?

For over fifty years the students of MSU have been pouring money into this "publication" with about as much return as the pin-ball payoff at the Northern. Let's look at the editor. Obviously he has only two qualifications: 1. He knows Dean Ford. 2. He owns a trench coat. This must have been enough because last spring he was thrust upon us.

"Sam Spade" Wohlgenant started out like a rocket attacking the book store in such blistering editorials as "Hoover Commission for Store Board" and "Silence Is Golden but for Whom?" but his campaign faded like the arm-pits in an athlete's sweat shirt. Net result—several hundred words to fill in between the advertisements (student cost $.0335 a word) accomplishing nothing.

Undaunted, the balding "Boy Editor" stumbled along seeking greener pastures. On Tuesday, May 29, in an editorial, "Draftsman, Spare That View," the boy wonder had at last hit the jack-pot. Here was a story, his big chance to do a great public service, a live issue right within his grasp, but alas, it ended up like a Kappa social function—dead. Mumbling apologies and tossing orchids, he packed his carpet bag and headed back to Miles City.

After a summer of editing the want ads on the "Star," he returned a new man, with two goals in mind: 1. To glorify the Kaimin. 2. To get a date. After repeated attempts to secure feminine companionship, he snatched up his poison pen and blasted sororities unmercifully with nothing but frustration in his tender little heart. Has the editor started to crack?

Blinded by nothing but emotion and rage, our "boy nothing" is floundering around like a music major in the Phi Delt house. Where will he land next? We have but one thought to end this—boy editors never die, they just get carried away...

SU Cafeteria Shows Six Per Cent Profit for October

The Student Union cafeteria made money last month for the first time in two years, Jack Cuthbert, manager, said yesterday.

A profit of nearly six per cent was run up for food and fountain sales in October, the first month the establishment has operated out of the red since 1949. The cafeteria has been subsidized by the book store under Store board authorization since that time.

Cuthbert attributed the profit entry to heavier cafeteria volume and the increase in the price of coffee from a nickel to eight cents per cup or two for 15 cents. It was raised at the beginning of summer school this year.

Students and faculty bought 16,388 cups of coffee during the month of October as compared to 20,687 cups during the same period last year, Cuthbert said.

The decrease in the amount of coffee sold was partially due to the decreased enrollment and also to the gain in the sales of coke which has not risen in price, he said.

He decided to raise the coffee price this summer after attending the National Student Union convention in Lansing, Mich., last April. While there, he learned that the 28 schools represented sold coffee for 10 cents and 17 schools were charging eight cents. Only three schools, including MSU, were still selling coffee at five cents per cup, Cuthbert said.

Heavier cafeteria volume during the lunch and dinner hours also accounted for some of the October profit. He said from 150 to 200 students and faculty members eat there for lunch and 80 to 100 for dinner.

The cafeteria now employs 34 students on a part-time basis in its food and fountain departments. They work from one to three hours each per day under the class B wage schedule for university students which pays 65 cents an hour.

Three cooks, paid annual salaries, are on the cafeteria's payroll. One of them has been with the cafeteria since it opened in 1936.

Cuthbert said that the cafeteria lost 48 dozen teaspoons, valued at $2.05 per dozen, during the nine months of last year. Nearly 300 cups disappeared during the same period.

LSA Members To Attend Montana Meet

Fifteen members of the Lutheran Student association will represent MSU at the Montana conference of Lutheran students in Billings over the week end, Dick Bolte, regional president, said.

The students are Dorothy Beck, Mogeland, local president; Bolte; Gertrude Stene, Big Timber; Lois Staudacher, Chester; Donna Jean Strong, Billings; Norman Olson, Missoula; Mardell Ostrum, Absarokee; Pauline Oberg, Twin Bridges; Margaret Hein, New York City; Ralph Holmlund, Hamilton; Harvey Young, Fairfield; Erma Gilliland, Butte; Ed Kofod, Missoula; Ralph Olson, Chicago, Ill.; and Ray Woepel, Brockton.

Main speaker of the conference will be Vernon Faillettaz, a national officer from the Lutheran Theological seminary in St. Paul, Minn. His subject will be "God's World, Our Mission." The regional conference will be divided into groups, which will discuss the main theme as well as the working structure and future policies of the association. Elections will be held for new officers.

Four other colleges will attend the conference. They are Western Montana College of Education, Dillon; Montana State college, Bozeman; Eastern Montana College of Education, Billings; and Northern Montana College of Education, Havre.

Montana voters elected only two Republican governors from 1889 to 1934.

Dogpatch Damsels Desire Dates For Annual Sadie Hawkins Dance

Well, I'll be ding dang if'n it ain't time to ketch on to a hunk of masculinity and drag the misurable critter to Skunk Holler.

Yes, once again campus coeds are baiting traps to catch their Li'l Abner before the Sadie Hawkins dance. Dogpatch will be in full swing next Friday night in the Gold room of the Student Union, according to Pat Schwarz, Missoula, Spur publicity chairman.

Sadie Hawkins day has been sponsored annually by the Spurs since 1941, with time out during the war. Each year prizes are awarded the best costumed Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae. Alice Joan Stewart, Anaconda, and Walter Zwicker, Appleton, Wis., reigned in Dogpatch last year. The winning Daisy Mae appeared at the dance with a blond floor mop for hair.

Chaperones and several students will be judges, Miss Schwarz said. Judy McCullough, Missoula, is general chairman of the dance. Other committee chairmen are: signs, LaQuita Lahn, Miles City; decorations, Anne Fowler, Lewistown, and Ilen Egger, Whitehall; entertainment, Martha Mannen, Brady; tickets, Joan Kimball, Hysham.

Refreshments, Jerry Holland, Butte; dorm talks, Jary Nelsen, Conrad, and Alice Ann Buls, Missoula; prizes, Peg Tofte and Dorothy Clowes, both of Missoula; and chaperones, Marie Mastorovich, Roundup, and Marieanne Carroll, Hysham.

Here are the Grizzlies' two offensive tackles, Bob Lamley, right, and Dave "Moose" Miller. These two huskies will be out to make Shipkey's new offensive maneuvers work tomorrow with their savage blocking.

Lamley is a senior in the Forestry school and hails from Kenton, Ohio. This is his third year with the Grizzlies and his second year at the starting left tackle post on offense.

Miller is a California product from Santa Monica junior college and he majors in sociology. His nickname was latched on by teammates for his hard charging line work and his 240 pounds.

Miller made the lineman's dream come true when he blocked a New Mexico punt in the end zone and fell on it.

Grizzlies End Skyline Season With Ram Tilt

Coach Ted Shipkey and his Montana Grizzlies will arrive in Fort Collins, Colo., tonight with a bag of tricks for the game with Colorado A. and M. tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. This will be the last conference game for the Grizzlies.

The Grizzly coach has changed his offensive attack considerably and plans to use the surprise element as his big punch against the Rams. However, the Grizzlies will be severely hampered by injuries to three backfield men. Bob Graves, Paul Wold, and Fred Mirchoff, Grizzly regulars, will not see any offensive action tomorrow.

Shipkey was well pleased with the defensive line shifts he made in preparation for the Wyoming game and will send the same combinations against the Rams. His change in the Grizzly forward wall held the vaunted Wyoming ground attack to 90 yards last week.

The Grizzlies will take to the gridiron at Fort Collins with new offensive maneuvers in an effort to win their second Skyline game. Colorado A. and M. will be after their third conference win which would enable them to stay in the race for the Skyline crown. A loss, however, would put the damper on the hopes of the Rams.

Shipkey said the Grizzlies will pass more tomorrow if the weather is good; if not, they will stick to the ground and run from their new offensive formation. Shipkey's new tactics should surprise the Rams, who have been preparing for the Grizzlies' T formation in practice

PDT's Defeat SN's 12 to 0

Phi Delta Theta moved into the Intramural touchball championships yesterday by defeating Sigma Nu 12-0, in the semi-final game.

A pass from Gene Patch to George Scott gave the Phi Deltas their first score late in the beginning quarter. Patch had kicked to the Sigma Nus and the ball had changed hands twice. Jerry Johnson intercepted a Nu pass from Bob Artz to Howard Burke, on the Sigma Nu six yard line. Then Scott scored, but Patch's conversion pass to Durwood Johnson fell short.

Although H. P. Brown blocked a Sigma Nu kick on the Nus' four, the Phi Deltas were unable to put the ball over. Artz's passing attack was successfully held by the Phi Deltas for the remainder of the first half.

Both teams received 15 yard penalties in the third quarter for illegal blocking.

Hal Snippen intercepted a pass intended for the Nus' Jack Davis in the last quarter. Patch ran the Phis down to passing range and then connected for the second touchdown to Delos Robbins. Patch's conversion kick was low.

'First in U.S.' Tag for Byrne

Bob Byrne has added more football laurels to his record as national statistics this week show that the Grizzly speedster leads the nation in kickoff returns. Byrne moved into the lead with four runbacks for 177 yards against Wyoming last Saturday. Harry Geldien of Wyoming was the former leader, but injuries have kept him out of action for the last two weeks. Byrne has 336 yards on kickoff returns to Geldien's 335.

The Skyline conference seems to have a hold on kickoff return leadership with Byrne and Geldien presently running neck and neck, and last year New Mexico's Chuck Hill was the season's leader.

Grizzly Hoop Squads Scrap

Varsity team No. 1 defeated Varsity No. 2 Wednesday afternoon 31 to 54 in another inter-varsity scrimmage.

Coach Jiggs Dahlberg said he was pleased with the team's performance and named Chuck Davis, Dillon, and Bud Bellis, Helena, as the outstanding guards for Varsity No. 1. Jack "Mickey" Luckman, Glasgow, showed well in the center spot. Don Lucas, Miles City, and Jack Coppedge, Polson, paced the No. 2's at the forward positions.

Wednesday evening, the Collegians polished off the Montana Freshmen, 65 to 60, but Coach Dahlberg said that Mike Granbois, Poplar, a forward and Don Chaney, Livingston, who shines at the center spot, will be wearing varsity suits hereafter.

Grizzly Gab

by
LEW KEIM

Grizzly gridsters have two games remaining on their schedule and they are both tough. This Saturday they face the aerial minded Colorado A&M squad, and next weekend it will be the high scoring Cougars from Washington State college. The Grizzlies will be definitely underdogs in both games and will have to play aggressive football with better fundamentals to upset these two tough foes.

Washington State is presently the highest scoring team in the Pacific Coast conference. Despite early season predictions that their big brothers, the Washington Huskies, would roll over the Cougars, it is very likely that the predicted situation will be reversed.

With the Grizzlies go down to defeat again tomorrow at Fort Collins or can they gain aggressive spirit with their new offensive formation in order to upset the Rams? Whatever the final answer may be, the Grizzlies will have given their best with an injury riddled squad and a team that lacks depth in numbers and ability.

Skyline fans may be in for a surprise Saturday if the Grizzlies can get an offensive attack rolling with their new formation. It isn't a single wing, but it will give the Silvertips more balance with their spread formation and Byrne more blocking power on his runs. An upset isn't likely however, as the Rams are the team that beat Wyoming 14 to 7. Their passer, Don Burroughs, averages 60 per cent completions on his aeriels. Another question though: Are the Grizzlies beaten before they play the game?

Next spring a new Grizzly star will shine on the golf links. He is Don Welch, a freshman from Whitefish. Don is a golfer and enough of a golfer to win second place in the National Junior Chamber of Commerce championships last summer. Welch was also a semi-finalist in the state amateur tournament at Great Falls last summer. He will burn up Skyline courses next spring.

SX, Phi Delts Fight Today For I-M Touchball Crown

Sigma Chi and Phi Delta Theta will meet this afternoon at 4:15 for the intramural touch football championship. Sigma Nu will tangle with Jumbo hall in the playoff for third place at the same time in the Clover bowl.

Both the Sigma Chis and the Phi Delts are undefeated as they enter the playoff for the intramural and interfraternity crowns today.

The Sigs reached the finals by downing Jumbo hall 12 to 0. The Phi Delts, not to be outdone by the Sigs, posted the same score in defeating Sigma Nu to gain a championship berth.

In comparative scores against the Sigma Nus, the only team both squads have met, the Phi Delts have the edge. Sigma Chi defeated the Nus by a 6 to 0 count while the Phi Delts did them one touchdown better.

The Phi Delt attack is led by the passing arm of Gene Patch who is supported by a strong and heavy line. He has good receivers in Delos Robbins, Jerry Murphy, Jerry Johnson, Clint Scott and Durwood Johnson.

Sigma Chi's main offensive punch is the aerial combination of Winston Tustison to Don Olson. Olson is the leading intramural touchdown man with seven counters to his credit. Don Clark provides a tall target for Tustison's passes also, as he has five touchdowns for the season. Kim Nelson and Cletus Smith also do some of the Sigs passing and add versatility to their attack when they turn up in their foes secondary as pass receivers.

Moline, Jr., Robert W. Murray, Harry E. Noel, Jr., Lester M. Ormiston, William A. Reynolds, Charles J. Waterman, and Benjamin J. Wuerthner.

First lieutenants are: Raymond A. Berg, Dean W. Joscelyn, David B. Kreitzer, Dirk H. Larsen, Charles C. Lovell, Joe O. Luckman, Richard J. Pinsonneault, James A.

Reid, Earl D. Sandvig, Harvey L. Schlieman, Henry S. Turner, and Paul M. Wold.

Second lieutenants are: John J. Burke, Bernard A. Coster, Donald S. Crumpacker, John G. Davis, Delos M. Dutton, Cecil W. Gilmore, David A. Graham, Donald E. Hamilton, Thomas E. Kelly, Karl O. Lentz, Jr., Keith W. Nelson, John M. Pecarich, Robert S. Peden, Stephen O. Popovac, Robert J. Ripke, Charles H. Robey, Jack H. Royle, Clinton W. Scott, Donald E. Seese, William J. Seitz, Jack R. Sheneman, Duane E. Smith, William J. Speare, Lowell B. Swingley, James O. Tingle, Donald R. Winship, Charles H. Caraway, and Robert E. Smith.

RAINBOW GIRLS INVITED TO BANQUET NOV. 17

Masters of the Grand Cross of Colors of the Order of Rainbow for Girls are welcome to attend the Grand Cross of Color banquet sponsored by the two Missoula Rainbow assemblies, according to Mrs. L. N. Jeffries.

The banquet will be Nov. 17 at 6 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Jeffries at 9-2297.

There are, in the United States, well over one hundred concerns that invest more than a million dollars each year in various forms of advertising—and who do it for the very good reason that advertising pays.

Campus Sidewalk Cafe Results From 'Mad Woman' Set Building

A sidewalk cafe is a new addition to the campus although it is only temporary.

The cafe and basement apartment are the sets for the "Madwoman of Chaillot." Construction of the two sets are well under way, Dave Weiss, technical director, said.

The carpentry work is being done by Larry Kadlec, Missoula, assisted by Dick Brechbill, Missoula. The crew works in the afternoons for the most part, because rehearsals are scheduled for the evenings.

Schmitt on Lights

Chuck Schmitt, Chicago, is handling the lights for the show. He and his assistant, Maxine Taylor, Missoula, are placing the various types of lights in proper places and also inserting the right colored gels for the color of the show.

The lights have to be wired so the desired combination of colors for any one scene of the show may be attained by moving a few levers that control rheostats.

Costumes Must Fit

Costumes for the show are always a headache. Proper costumes for each character must be found in sizes to fit the individual actor. In quite a few instances this calls for alterations of clothes, or in some cases, the complete costume is made.

Joan Ward, Missoula, and Calabell Barness are working on the costumes for the show. Mrs. Barness is the wife of Dick Barness, Medicine Lake, one of the major characters in the show.

Hays Gets Results

Nancy Hays, Missoula, is the stage manager for this production.

Her job is to see that all the various phases of the production are co-ordinated into the final result, that which the audience sees.

The make-up chairman is Irene Stritch, Missoula. She supervises the make-up so that it is in accord with the type of character and also balanced to look well under the bright lights.

Washed Out Faces

Make-up is necessary on the stage for a couple of reasons. The bright lights make the actors' faces look washed out if the features are well emphasized. In addition, make-up can change an actor's facial features to some extent, so he really looks like the character he is portraying.

Rehearsals are in the fourth and final week. Dress rehearsals begin this week-end. The show opens for a five-day run Tuesday at Simpkins Little theater. Student tickets are on sale at the Simpkins theater box office for 25 cents. Activity cards must be presented when a student ticket is purchased.

Sig Eps to Crown New Queen Tonight, ATO's To Hold Open House Sunday

Highlighting the many socials this weekend is the Sigma Phi Epsilon Queen of Hearts ball, the ROTC Sponsor corps party for the finalists for Sponsor corps, and the Phi Sigma Kappa barn dance Friday night. Kappa Kappa Gamma will have a roller skating party and Alpha Phi, a fireside on Saturday. Alpha Tau Omegas will be hosts at an open house Sunday afternoon.

During the week many houses had Active Christian Thinking week speakers.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Rabbi Kelson spoke Monday night after dinner on the film, "Nuremberg Trials." Father Kavanagh spoke Wednesday night. Gene Hoyt, Havre, pledged this week.

Alpha Chi Omega

The Rev. J. S. Pennepacker was a dinner guest and speaker last Monday.

Pledges Alice Stack and Barbara Furrell, both of Missoula, received corsages of red carnations Wednesday night after being chosen "Carnation Girls" of October and November by the active chapter.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

SAE pledged Joe Hillstead, Kalispell; John McDonald, Butte; and Fay Buck, Hamilton, recently.

Delta Delta Delta

Dean Charles E. McAllister, an SAE from New York of the class of 1914, was a dinner guest and speaker Monday evening in connection with Active Christian Thinking week.

Rabbi Kelson, ACT week speaker, was a dinner guest at the Tri Delt house Wednesday.

Dinner guest and speaker Thursday night was Rev. Fr. Kavanagh.

North Hall

Esther Gremaux, Lewistown, and Marlene McKinley and Gerene Wilson, both of Kellogg, Ida., won prizes for the most original costumes worn to the North hall costume party recently. Dr. Maurine Clow and Miss Neda Ahrens, dietitian, were guests.

The Rev. Charles Bole, Presbyterian minister, spoke Monday evening on ACT week after dinner at the hall.

Pat Strobe, Malta, pianist, entertained at the after-dinner coffee hour Sunday.

Sigma Nu

Sigma Nu pledges will put on a fireside at the chapter house tonight. The pledges pulled a successful sneak Monday night in the old Spudnut shop, two blocks from the Sigma Nu house.

The Rev. Fr. Gannon of Helena was a dinner guest Tuesday evening.

Plans are under way to install a Sigma Nu chapter at Montana State college early winter quarter.

Alpha Tau Omega

ATO will sponsor an open house Sunday at 3 p.m. Six women from each living group, six off-campus women, and the house mothers from each living group have been invited. Entertainment will be furnished by the Jam band.

Alpha Phi

Mary Ann Dimock, Anaconda, was serenaded Monday night by the Phi Delt. She is pinned to Jim Larcombe, Malta. Barbara Blakeslee, Missoula, is pinned to Jerry Britton, Great Falls, Sigma Chi.

The Rev. Fr. Kavanagh and Rabbi Kelson were guests at the Alpha Phi house for dinner, Tuesday and Thursday, respectively.

Delta Gamma

Lynn Erb, Billings, received an SAE serenade Monday evening. She is pinned to George Gogas, Missoula. Joan Watson, Deer Lodge, is wearing the Sigma Phi Epsilon pin of Howard Sandford, Deer Lodge.

The final score of the DG-Phi Delt touchball game was DG 21, Phi Delt 18.

Officers of the pledge class are Diane Reynolds, Hamilton, president; Joan Brooks, St. Ignatius, vice president; Doris Mudd, Missoula, secretary; and Marjorie Lovberg, Missoula, junior Panhellenic representative.

Phi Delta Theta

Ray Bukovatz, Missoula, pinned Dorothy Blazie, Calgary, recently. A Hawaiian fireside was given at the house last Saturday night.

Johan Miller, Fairview, became a pledge this week.

New Hall

New hall girls recently elected the following officers: Ann Francis, Butte, vice president; Virginia Smith, Billings, treasurer; and Helen Morton, Glasgow, social chairman.

Gay Stivers, Butte, was serenaded by Sigma Alpha Epsilon Monday night. She is pinned to Edwin Hodder, Boston, who is attending Harvard.

Anne Bluechel, Missoula, is wearing the Sigma Nu pin of Miles O'Conner, Livingston.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Kay Millons, Great Falls, received a diamond from Vail Doherty, Great Falls. Rich Gunlickson, Shelby, SAE, gave his pin to Leslie Lind, Butte. Joan Kimball, Hysham, is wearing an Alpha Gamma Rho pin from Dill Cunningham, Bozeman.

Kappas will have a roller skating party Saturday night.

Dickens' Story Comes to Campus Theater Sunday

A Dickens' novel will come to life on the screen Sunday evening at Simpkins Little theater.

"Nicholas Nickleby," which was filmed in England, depicts life in England in the early 19th century. The movie stars Sir Cedric Harwicke.

The New Yorker said, "In the film version of 'Nicholas Nickleby,' the English have done Dickens proud. The picture explores all the scenes familiar in memory—from Dotheboy's hall, where the odious Squeers board unwanted children, to King's Bench prison, where debtors not yet utterly destitute are held.

"The acting is excellent and all actors are properly good or horrible as all Dickens' characters must be." Newsweek said that the one who comes the closest to Dickens himself is Sir Cedric Harwicke, who plays Nickleby's sinister Uncle Ralph.

The movie, sponsored by the University Film society, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. Admission is 50 cents, including tax.

Six Debaters To Present Five Programs

Six MSU debaters will have a busy day Monday, when they present five debate programs at four different high schools, according to Prof. Ralph Y. McGinnis, director of speech activities.

The proposition, "Resolved, That all American citizens should be subject to conscription for essential services in time of war," will be argued at Whitefish high school at 8:30 a.m. Monday; at Flathead County high school at 11 a.m.; at Columbia Falls high school at 1 p.m.; at Big Fork high school at 2:45 p.m.; and before the Whitefish P-TA at 8 p.m. Professor McGinnis will accompany the group.

Dr. John W. Swackhamer, assistant professor in economics, spoke to the debate and oratory association Wednesday night about inflation. The association meets every Wednesday night at 7:30 in Library 103, Professor McGinnis said.

Steel Bleachers To Be Installed

Portable steel bleachers which will seat approximately 900 persons have been requisitioned for the university gymnasium, Tom G. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, said yesterday.

The bleachers, 6 seats high and 40 feet long, will replace the old wooden structures on the north and south sides of the men's gym.

Swearingen expressed hope that they would be here for the first home basketball game next month. The state purchasing agent will announce his bid selection soon.

TONGUE IN CHEEK

BY C. J. HANSEN

My strongest emotion while reading Time magazine's piece on the "younger generation" was a whopping sense of relief at finding I still belonged to it. (Time defines the generation as ages 18 to 28).

Long scorned as a middle-aged fogey in undergraduate's clothing, I now have legible proof that the wild juices of youth still flow from my left ventricle (an old Bug Science term).

As long as Time's editors made me a target of their finely honed harpoons, I took special pains to digest their analysis. I found myself muttering "Umhummm, umhummm," as I read. They landed many telling blows in our solar plexus.

Silence at Murrills?

Time calls us the "silent generation." Now the person who has been in Murrill's of a Saturday night might challenge this label. But take the broader view—ask any cheerleader on the campus. He will tell you that the MSU student body rivals the Great Chinese Wall for deathlike stillness. Or better yet, go around this place asking for a cigarette sometime. You'll get some real silence then; and a rather contemptuous silence at that.

Time reported that our young women now take a kindlier attitude toward marriage and child-bearing. To test this theory, I asked one coed whether her campus life included any thoughts of future marriage. Her tart answer: "I didn't come here to improve my grammar."

We Still Have Stalin

We don't have any living heroes, Time says, and I'll have to agree. There was a time when we were pretty warm about General Eisenhower, but now he's just another campaign button. Time's editors also are right about us having few villains. I think everyone is pretty well agreed on Joe Stalin and General Hershey, but that about does it.

Headaches Not in Vain

I was relieved when Time said we can still raise hell. It would have been bitter, indeed, to find that all my headaches have been in vain. Time adds, however, that we never seem to lose our heads, and always get back to school, work or war. This development is due, no doubt, to vastly-improved aspirin and the advent of canned tomato juice.

Any Missoula bartender will echo Time's statement that we drink less. They all say: "Business is lousy."

Time concludes that our slogan is not "Youth Will Be Served" but "Youth Will Serve." Anyone who has read the selective service act will not argue with this. I only say that the slogan should be amended to read: "Youth Will Serve, and Serve, and Serve..."

A Disagreement

There was one statement I disagreed with. Time said youth's ambitions have shrunk... few youngsters today want to mine diamonds in South Africa, ranch in Paraguay, climb Mount Everest, find a cure for cancer, sail around the world or build an industrial empire.

I'm too chubby for mountain climbing, sailing makes me seasick, I know nothing about medical research or ranching, and industrial empires sound stuffy. But brother, you just give me one of those diamond mines!
